DUNMORE DOINGS.

Funeral of Mrs. Edward Fries Was Largely Attended-Other News and Personal Notes.

One of the largest funerals ever held n the borough took place yesterday itfernoon at 2.30 o'clock, when the sorowing friends and relatives of Mrs. Edward Fries gathered at the home on Prescott avenue, and later at the Methedist Episcopal church to pay their departed sister their last token of respect and esteem.

That the deceased held a fond place in the hearts of many was attested at the services held in the Methodist church, when after the words of con-J. Van Cleft, her pastor, very few dry yes were to be seen among the large adience crowding the main auditorium and galleries,

In his address Rev. Van Cleft spoke nainly of the beautiful character of the dead woman, likening the light of truth and good, emanating from her spirit to the light and warmth of the sun doing good everywhere. The address was frequently almost intercupted by the spasmodic and heartelt grief manifested by the circle of

It was almost 5 o'clock before the last of the friends had taken their last look at the face of their departed friend which though now cold in death appeared to smile up at them in the same peaceful way to that which they had been accustomed to when she was in their midst, and the funeral cortege started for the Dunmore cemetery, where the body was laid to rest after short services at the grave.

A CONSUL GENERAL.

Following Congressman Grow came James T. DuBois, United States consul general to Switzerland, who kept the audience in splendid humor for over half an hour. Seldom does one hear a speaker with such a remarkable fund of apt anecdotes as Mr. DuBois and seldom one with such a facility of expression. From among the many things he said may be culled the following:

Some time ago Governor Rooseveit charged Some time ago Governor Rooseveit charged Mr. Bryan with arraying labor against capital and the masses against the classes. In Baltimore a little while ago I heard Mr. Bryan answer the governor. He said that human bees had been making the honey and that he proposed to show how to destroy the droves who were sained in the body of the droves who were sained in the little gives $25 to any man who will call the second of the said that he proposed to show how to destroy the droves who were sained in the said that he proposed to show how to destroy the droves who will be seen that the said that he proposed to show how to destroy the droves who were said to show the said that the said that the said that he proposed the cating it. I will give $25 to any man who will say that Bryan helped him to make a single drop of honey. You have in this district in Mr. Cornell man of splendid independence; an honest man a man who has always voted right; man who has always supported President McKinley in a man who has always voted right; a man who a man who has always voted right; a man who is giving thousands of human bees a chance to make honey. I notice the Scranton Times tonight said that there would be a Bryan land-slide on Nov. 6. I acknowledge that there will be a landslide, but Mr. Bryan will be on the bottom of it, and the two Williams, McKinley and Connell, will be on top.

The political organization of which Bryan is the imperial ears is taking great unins to humhe imperial ezar is taking great pains to hubug, befog and mislead the American people. Its face is turned toward yesterday and its back Its face is turned toward yesternay and its last to resurrection morn. Next Tuesday night it will feel like the toper with a ten-mile thirst and not a single schooner in sight.

Bryan is like a Maryland flea, When you put your thumb down he is never there. He has your thumb down he is never there. He has married more paramount issues in this campaign than the friskiest widow that ever came out of Chicago, First it was imperialism, then trusts, then militarism, then the rights of man, then government by injunction and so on ac infinition. His next issue may be the mar up the tree for all we know. up the tree for all we know.

Dr. Bryan has in his saddle bag the most dangerous nestrums ever concected in the pharmacy of political quackery.

In 1896 Bryan predicted that the gold standard would increase the number of idle men. B.

G. Dun, one of the mest careful men in this country made an investigation of that the country, made an investigation at that time and found that there were 2,000,000 idle men You know the condition of affairs now. You know that every calamity howler is hitched in There are many of them who have worked hard since they voted for Bryan four years ago that they need a rest and they'll get it if he is ever elected. The interests of the laborer and the business man would be far worse off invested his all in a swampy town when they
